MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Training
THROUGH : Chief, Operations School
SUBJECT : Weekly Activities Report No. 19
10 - 16 May 1962

A. SIGNIFICANT ITEMS

Nothing to report.

B. OTHER ITEMS

1. Information Reporting, Reports and Requirements (IRRR):

One student is receiving tutorial instruction in this subject from Mr. [REDACTED]

2. Information Reports Familiarization (IRF):

Three students successfully completed IRF training on 11 May and two on 14 May. Mr. [REDACTED] now has four students on a tutorial basis in IRF. In addition, he is giving tutorial instruction in the preparation of cables to the deputy chief of logistics, NE Division.

3. Counterintelligence Familiarization (CI/FAM):

A total of fifteen persons were enrolled for Course No. 32 which began on 14 May. With the cancellation of three registrations, the class consists of twelve students.

4. Clandestine Services Review (CSR):

Course No. 37 began on 14 May. Twenty-three students had been enrolled. Six cancelled for various reasons on 11 May, although we were informed of only one such cancellation on that date. Apparently the FI Staff [REDACTED] office) had failed to inform the Registrar's office of the other cancellations until 14 May.

5. Clandestine Services Liaison Operations (CSLO):

Course No. 20, due to begin 21 May, has one student registered as of this date. Mrs. [REDACTED] has been in close touch with the FI Staff on the subject of enrollment and in addition has talked with a large number of branch personnel about the course. In almost every instance the results are the same: although the course is considered desirable, no people can be spared to take it. I talked at length with [REDACTED] of NE on 15 May about this point, and as a conscientious training officer his observations are pertinent. He is informed of all of his division personnel actions and knows what training requirements exist, but he said the personnel pinch is so severe that it is difficult in some cases even to cover the desks, let alone provide training. This is probably true in one degree or another in the other divisions which have to supply man power to the high priority areas. As it now stands, AF, NE and WH have stated they have no students for CSLO Course No. 20. FE "might" have one, and EE will send one if "directed" to do so by the FI Staff. WE is silent. Incidentally, the one person enrolled in the course is from TSD. The prospects for running the course are, to state it conservatively, dim.
